Informed Consent for Chiropractic Care

Chiropractic care, like all forms of health care, while offering considerable benefit, may also provide some level of risk. This level of risk is most often very minimal, yet in extremely rare cases injury has been associated with chiropractic care. The types of complications that have been reported secondary to chiropractic care include sprain strain injuries, irritation of a disc condition, and, rarely, fractures. One of the rarest complications associated with chiropractic care—occurring at a rate between one instance per one million to one instance per two million-is the instance of cervical spine (neck) adjustments being applied to a pre-existing vertebral artery injury that could result in stroke.
Prior to receiving chiropractic care in this office, a health history and physical examination will be completed. These procedures are performed to assess your specific condition, your overall health and, in particular, your spinal health. These procedures will assist us in determining if chiropractic care is needed, or if any further examinations or studies are needed. In addition, they will help us determine if there is any reason to modify your care or provide you with a referral to another health care provider. All relevant findings will be reported to you along with a care plan prior to beginning care.

I understand and accept that there are risks associated with chiropractic care and give my consent to the examinations that the doctor deems necessary, and to the chiropractic care including spinal adjustments, as reported following my assessments.

DOCTOR/ PATIENT RELATIONSHIP IN CHIROPRACTIC

CHIROPRACTIC:

It is important to recognize the difference between chiropractic and medicine. Either can be important to your health, but for entirely different reasons. Chiropractors seek to restore health through natural means and without the use of medicine or surgery. Although a medical diagnosis may be of great importance to a patient, such diagnosis does not necessarily assist the chiropractor in his efforts. The chiropractor's purpose is to restore health through the natural flow of energy in the nervous system. This gives the body maximum opportunity to heal itself. The success of the Chiropractic procedures often depends upon underlying causes and conditions. It is important to understand what to expect from chiropractic and medical services in order that you, the patient, can determine whether either or both may be of benefit to you.

ANALYSIS:

A chiropractor conducts a chiropractic analysis for the express purpose of determining whether there is evidence of spinal subluxation. When such subluxations are found, Chiropractic adjustments are given to restore spinal alignment. It is the chiropractor's premise that proper spinal alignments allows free nerve flow throughout the body and gives the body its best chance to restore health. Due to the complexities of nature, no chiropractor can promise you specific results. This depends upon the recuperative powers of the body.

DIAGNOSIS:

Although chiropractors are experts in chiropractic analysis, they are not specialists in the field of diagnosis. Internists are medical specialists who are highly qualified to diagnosis. Every chiropractic patient should be mindful of his own symptoms and should secure medical opinion if he has any concern as to the nature of his illness or injury. Your doctor of chiropractic may express an opinion as to whether or not you should take this step, but you should take the initiative if in doubt.

CHIROPRACTIC ADJUSTMENTS:

The patient, in coming to the chiropractic gives the chiropractor permission and authority to adjust the patient in accordance with the chiropractic analysis. The chiropractic adjustment is usually beneficial and seldom causes any problem. In rare cases underlying physical defects, deformities, or pathology may render the patient susceptible to injury. The chiropractor of course, will not give a chiropractic adjustment if he is aware that such conditions exist. Again, it is the responsibility of the patient to make it known, to learn through medical procedures whether he is suffering from latent pathological defects illness or deformity which otherwise would not come to the attention of the chiropractor. The patient should not look to the Doctor of Chiropractic for indepth diagnosis procedures. The Doctor of Chiropractic provides a specialized health service, does not and should not become involved in the patient's medical regimen. A patient should never ask or accept advice from a chiropractor concerning the taking of prescriptive medicines. The Doctor of Chiropractic is not licensed in medical practices.

RESULT:

The purpose of chiropractic services is to promote natural health through the release of maximum nervous energy. Since there are so many variables, it is difficult to predict the time schedule and efficiency of chiropractic procedures. Sometimes the response is phenomenal, In some cases, there is more gradual, but quite satisfactory response. Occasionally, the results are mediocre or dismal. Two or more similar conditions may respond differently to the same chiropractic care. Many medical failures find quick relief through chiropractic. In turn, we must admit that conditions, which do not respond chiropractic care, may come under control or be better treated through medical science. The fact is, the sciences of chiropractic and medicine may never be so exact as to provide definite answers to many problems. Both have made great strides in alleviating pain and controlling disease.

The patient should discuss any questions or problems with the doctor before signing this statement of policy.
